LISTEN, DO... LISTEN AGAIN

Through a series of modular workshops, exchanges, and discussions related to sound ecology research and creation, Boris Allenou and the Library Of MusicLandria want to enhance participants' awareness of sound.

By proposing activities such as open improvisation, electronic and audio do-it-yourself, recording and deep listening, the purpose of these workshops is to discover or highlight the interactions that exist between human beings and sounds and to reclaim the time of listening.

During the workshop // 01 we will listen, build contact microphones and explore the sound environment with them
